Safeguarding Week 14 - 18 March 2022

Join us for Safeguarding Week 2022. This year's theme is 'learning from practice'

Partners from Cumbria Safeguarding Children Partnership have come together to develop an extensive programme of learning events, seminars and interactive sessions. The programme of events will be delivered virtually throughout the week providing ease of access for all attendees.

Developed for practitioners, the programme offers a packed schedule of sessions which will be delivered by inspirational and motivational speakers, all of whom are experts in their field. The professional sessions will cover key safeguarding areas and have been designed to stimulate discussion, share best practice, spark innovation and support continuing professional development.

The launch event will be opened by Lesley Walker, Cumbria Safeguarding Children's Partnership's Independent Scrutineer.

We will then hear from Annie Hudson, Chair, Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel. The Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel are an independent panel commissioning reviews of serious child safeguarding cases. The panel have oversight of national and local reviews which gives them a unique insight into patterns of practice in child safeguarding.

Annie Hudson will cover the role of the panel, focus on the National Review of non-accidental injury to babies under 1 year and some of the practice themes identified in the Panel's Annual Report. They will also consider how rapid reviews and local safeguarding practice reviews can best support effective learning and improvement.
