

CSCP Safeguarding Groups Scrutiny Event - Learning from Practice Survey

As part of the CSCP cycle of quality assurance the CSCP are undertaking a scrutiny event on the theme 'Learning from Practice'. The event will explore how organisations are supporting practitioners to embed learning from Child Safeguarding Practice Reviews, Serious Case

Reviews and both local and national learning from reviews such as the national review into the murders of Arthur Labinjo-Hughes and Star Hobson, into their everyday practice.

The CSCP would like you to take five minutes to complete the survey to understand your experiences of how you receive learning and how your organisation enables you to embed new learning. All completed surveys are anonymous. Feedback from the scrutiny event will be shared via the Practitioner Forums.

To access the survey please use either the link or QR code below.

Child Safety Week

Save the date: Child Safety Week 2023 runs from Monday 5th to Sunday 11th June.

Child Safety Week is the Child Accident Prevention Trust's annual community education campaign, acting as a catalyst for thousands of safety conversations and activities UK-wide; helping families build confidence and skills in managing the real risks to children's safety. We want all children to have the freedom to grow and learn, safe from serious harm.

Cumbria Service Providers EWMH Padlet

Public Health have put together an emotional wellbeing and mental health padlet (a working document), specifically for service providers across Cumbria. This padlet houses the following:

- Pathways and guidance, including the thrive model
- Training opportunities
- Resources
- Links to services across Cumbria
- SEND support links and information
- Parent/Carer resources
- Open Chat section (not to be used to discuss individual cases).

This working document will be regularly updated to provide current and relevant information. It has been designed so that services can feel better connected and supported.

Suggestions for improvement and/or information you would like to be considered for the padlet, please email: fiona.ryan@westmorlandandfurness.gov.uk

The Public Health team hope you all find this a useful and easy to use tool.

Gambling Harms Awareness Week

On the 12th – 16th June Public Health & Protection will be piloting a Gambling Harms Awareness Week in Cumbria, whereby frontline organisations will carry out additional screening with clients and making referrals for support to the Beacon Counselling Trust (BCT) as appropriate. To complement the Awareness Week, there are two free training sessions on offer to those working in public facing roles and professionals working with young people which are provided by BCT.

Bet You Can Help Now! - 13th June 2023 10:00-11:15 - MS Teams link: Click here to join the meeting

Bet You Can Help Now is one hour fifteen minute condensed training workshop that features the key elements of the tackling gambling harms first aid approach. This course is aimed at people who may be restricted in the ability to attend the full day programme, but wish to use the core elements within their professional practice. The objectives of the Bet You Can Help Now! module are:

- Learners will develop their knowledge and understanding of gambling related harms
- Learners will have increased confidence in implementing effective screening and interventions with those at risk of gambling related harms
- Learners will be aware of and understand the appropriate levels of support available to help and support those affected by gambling related harms

This workshop is appropriate for professionals in any public facing role.

Young People's Gambling Harm Prevention Programme - 15th June 2023
10:00-11:30 - MS Teams link: Click here to join the meeting

This training session is aimed at any professionals working with young people aged 10 to 19 looking to find out more about how gambling harms can affect young people and the wider family. This session looks at defining gambling and gambling related harms whilst examining how gambling affects the brain, alongside the role of digital harms and the presence of gambling within gaming. We also look at how we can identify gambling harms and the specialist treatment and support services available to support young people.

Ghosts in the Nursery - One Day Training

This is a free one-day online training aimed at early years professionals, social workers, and mental health workers will look at the work with parents who are haunted by unresolved issues from their past, known as 'ghosts in the nursery' and how issues will unconsciously influence the way they think and behave toward their children.

Some parents, based on their early experiences, might well have developed defences to shut off from their vulnerability and feelings of love, which makes it very difficult for them to bond with their baby or young child. As practitioners, an awareness of a parent's ghosts, even if we are not trained to work directly with these issues, can equip us to understand more fully and respond to parents in an attuned way. With complex families, our understanding is likely to increase our capacity to form a meaningful, therapeutic alliance with parents who are otherwise hard-to-reach.

- Friday 9th June 2023 - 09:30 - 16:30
- Friday 23rd June 2023 - 09:30 - 15:00

Child Mental Health

NSPCC Learning has published a briefing looking at learning from case reviews involving children struggling with their mental health. Analysis of case reviews published between 2021 and 2022 highlights the detrimental impact adverse experiences, such as abuse or neglect, can have on a child’s mental health and the ways children's mental health problems may be related to safeguarding concerns.
