Children's Community Paediatrics

Support for children and young people with developmental delay or disability

Children's Community Paediatrics is a team of doctors who specialise in assessing and managing children and young people (aged 0–18 years old) who have developmental delay or disability. This includes working as part of the Multi-Agency Assessment Team (MAAT) for children and young people who may have autism.

Their work also includes assessing and meeting the health needs of children and young people who are 'looked after', and those who are being adopted. The team works closely with other health professionals such as GPs, therapists, nurses, hospital doctors, as well as staff from other agencies, such as social care and education.

Referral

To access the service, you'll need a referral from a GP, health visitor or other health professional or through the school or children's centre. The referrer should use the Trust's Physical Health referral form or provide equivalent information.
